IGORROTES SAY HUNT ROBS THEM

Their Manager Indicted By Memphis Grand Jury.

Dr. Hunt Brought Them to the St. Louis Exposition and Has Exhibited Them Since.

CLAIMS HE IS PERSECUTED.

Memphis, Sept. 5.—Upon the testimony of Feloa and Dengay, two full-blooded Igorrotes, members of the band which visited this city last year, indictments charging "larceny" and "larceny from the person," a felony under the statutes of this state, were returned against Dr. Truman K. Hunt by the Shelby county grand jury Friday morning, August 10, to Judge Moss in the criminal court.

Assistant Attorney-General Kortrecht, who immediately applied for requisition papers, directing that they be sent from Nashville to Chicago, Ill., where Hunt was arrested yesterday.

The United States government is the prime mover in the criminal prosecution against Dr. Hunt.

The indictments against Dr. Hunt charge him with the larceny of $28 from Feloa, and with feloniously taking $17 from the person of Dengay. The alleged crime is said to have been committed while the victims were members of the band of Igorrotes which were exhibited in East End park in July, 1905.

Dr. Hunt and his Igorrotes visited Paducah with a carnival company last spring. Dr. Hunt brought the band from the Philippines, where he was working under the commission. He exhibited them at the World's fair in St. Louis and married a local girl in the Igorrote village. The romance was the talk of the country.

A year ago he was arrested in New York at the instance of a woman, who said he married her before going to the Philippines, where he married a native woman. Nothing ever came of this charge and Dr. Hunt when here stated these attacks are stirred up by his enemies, jealous because he secured such a valuable concession from the government.

MADE MILLIONS.
Lost Love and Fortune and Is Dying.

Los Angeles, Sept. 5.—Alexander Belford, once an influential Chicago publisher, and the son-in-law of the junior partner in the Rand-McNally publishing house, is believed to be dying of paralysis at the Good Samaritan hospital. Mr. Belford accumulated more than $1,000,000 and married a woman whose fortune at this time is estimated to be close to the two million mark. In his later years he permitted both his wealth and his wife's affection to slip away from him and finally was reduced to accepting a clerkship in this city. At 10 o'clock tonight the physicians at the hospital said there was no change in Mr. Belford's condition. They entertained no hope for the man's recovery.

SCIENTISTS BURNED.

Look Into Crater of Mount Colima and Get Theirs.

Mexico City, Mex., Sept. 5.—With their bodies severely burned by the fires of Mount Colima volcano, four teen adventurous delegates to the international congress of geologists which meets in this city this week returned here today. The volcano was pouring forth great volumes of smoke, but this did not deter the explorers from advancing to the very edge of the crater. A hot and sudden blast of fire from the depths below badly scorched the bodies of the men and they beat a hurried retreat.

Young Woman Wants Damages Because Engine Spoiled Her Gown.

Fort Wayne, Ind., Sept. 5.—Miss Julia Wahmeyer, arrayed in white broadcloth to go on an excursion, was crossing the railroad track this morning when a locomotive suddenly discharged steam and soot so rapidly that before she could escape her dress was ruined. The young woman says the dress was worth $75. She engaged lawyers to sue the Pennsylvania railroad for that amount.

FIGHT RESULTS IN RACE WARS One Murder Caused in Chicago by Goldfield's Fight.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—Violence, and in one instance murder, was the result of the race excitement that developed while the returns from the Gans-Nelson fight were being received in Chicago last night. The levee district was aflame with the spirit of lawlessness that broke out at frequent intervals as the partisans of one or the other of the fighters ventured under the influence of an opinion.

NO WARRANTS

ISSUED FOR BOYS WHO BROKE WINDOWS OF SCHOOLS.

Judge Lightfoot Said the Board Is Trying to Collect a Civil Debt.

Both County Judge Lightfoot and City Judge Puryear refused to issue warrants for the boys who broke out windows and otherwise destroyed property in the Franklin building.

Judge Lightfoot said that the school board was trying to collect a civil debt by criminal prosecution and therefore he would not issue the warrants. Mr. Hoyer had been instructed to see if the parents of the boys would pay the damage. If not, to get warrants. The school board will now swallow the loss of the damaged property, as the parents will not pay for the damage done, and the court will take no action.

Elect Officers and Decide to Meet Again on Thanksgiving Day at Mayfield.

POSTMASTER WELCOMES THEM.

Rural letter carriers of Kentucky met in this city Labor Day and organized a state association, to be affiliated with the national association. They will meet again at Mayfield Thanksgiving Day to perfect the organization, as they can meet on national holidays only.

Officers of the newly formed association are President, J. F. Boyd, Boaz; vice president, Edmund L. Francis, Paducah; Secretary, J. W. Whittemore, Melber; treasurer, M. F. Rice, Paducah.

The object of the organization is to promote the amelioration of such conditions as affect all the rural carriers. Postal clerks and many government employees under the civil service have organized, not forming a lobby, but simply acting in concert to secure the betterment of the service and remove any unnecessary hardships from their duties.

H. M. Hepler, secretary of the executive committee of the National Rural Letter Carriers' association, was present and spoke to the carriers concerning the benefits of the organization, its plans and purposes.

The meeting was called to order by Postmaster F. M. Fisher, who delivered an address of welcome to the visitors and introduced Mr. Hepler.

The state association promises to be a great success.

SUING FOR PEACE

GENERAL MENOCAL WILL ACCEPT AT ANY PRICE.

Secretary of State Is Opposed to Treating With Rebels Under Any Conditions.

Havana, Sept. 5.—Gen. Marie Menocal, who, it has been said, is the rebels' candidate for the presidency, and is now in Santiago, says that he is ready to come to Havana and mediate for peace, without any thought of personal ambition. The veterans of the late war are eagerly expecting him.

The plan now is that Menocal and other leading veterans go to Pinar del Rio, see Pino Guerra and induce him to surrender, accepting pardon as the only concession that President Palma will make. But it is not thought likely that Guerra will consent, as he is sending letters to his friends throughout the country saying that he would rather die than accept Palma's terms.

Gen. Rafael Montalvo, secretary of state, who is in charge of the war, says that if the government should compromise with the insurgents it would encourage endless revolutions.

The real situation, he says, as regards the revolution, is that there are 800 men under Guerra and 400 under other leaders in the province of Pinar del Rio, 800 in the province of Havana and 2,000 in Santa Clara.

KING IS CAUGHT NEAR BROOKPORT

Police Land Negro Desperado At Last.

Shot Another Man's Leg So That It Had to Be Amputated and Made His Escape.

GOOD WORK BY THE POLICE.

Joe King, a negro desperado wanted here for maliciously shooting George Richardson, another of his color several weeks ago, is under arrest. He was brought this morning from Brookport, Ill., through the efforts of Patrolman Aaron Hurley, assisted by Patrolman Albert Senner and Special Policeman F. M. Matlock.

Over a month ago, while drinking, King went to the wrong house in search of a friend. He entered Richardson's house on Eight street near Husband's street, and Richardson struck him in the head with a stick. King got mad, went home secured a shotgun and blazed away, hitting King on the left leg at the ankle.

Richardson was removed to Riverside hospital, where his foot was amputated. It was only yesterday that he was able to be taken home. King escaped.

Patrolman Hurley secured information that King was near Brookport working in a saw-mill. He had written his wife that if she did not come to him he would return to Paducah and kill her. She went, returning yesterday. This is how the policeman got his tip, and last night with his partner, Patrolman Senner, Hurley secured the rest of the information and clinched the chances of getting King.

This morning Patrolman Hurley and Officer Matlock were sent to Brookport after King. In company with Marshal J. G. Flick, Matlock went to the saw-mill and closed in on the desperado.

King agreed to return without a requisition and was brought back on the train at 11 o'clock. The policemen left at 8 o'clock on the Fowler, making a good trip. It is an excellent piece of work on the part of the police.

CHOOSE BETWEEN SULLIVAN AND HIM

Bryan Gives Illinois Democrats Alternative.

Repudiates Endorsement That Comes From Friends of the Committeeman.

SCORES HIS ENEMY HEAVILY

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 5.—William J. Bryan as the guest of the local Democracy, delivered within eight hours two addresses. The first speech which was made at a luncheon given in his honor by the Ironclad club, dealt entirely with political issues and economic questions of the day. The second speech was made at a banquet given in his honor by the Jefferson club and was devoted to National Committee man Roger C. Sullivan, of Illinois, whose resignation Bryan had demanded but who was endorsed by the recent state convention which also declared itself in favor of Bryan as the next Democratic nominee for president.

Bryan not only scored Sullivan and his political methods unmercifully, but informed the Democrats present; many of whom were delegates to the recent state convention that if they accept Sullivan they couldn't endorse him in any way. He informed them emphatically that he would have none of the approval of the Democrats of Illinois and that he repudiated their recent endorsement of him.

THEIR VOTES NOT WANTED.

Tom Johnson Says God Speed to Thousands of Democrats.

Cleveland, Sept. 4.—In the opinion of Mayor Tom L. Johnson, Bryan's stand on government ownership of railroads, makes certain that Roosevelt will be the next Republican nominee for president. "Bryan's declaration on government ownership of railroads may drive thousands of Democrats out of the party and to such Democrats, I say, God speed," said Johnson.

PUT HIM TO WORK

NEGRO TRAMP NOT PROSECUTED BY ILLINOIS CENTRAL.

Hurrying Job of Work and Laborers Are Scarce, So Officer Gave Him Chance.

Labor in Paducah is scarce and even the Illinois Central railroad can not secure enough men to complete the foundation of a big wheel pressing machine in the local caboose shops. The Southern Bitulithic company and Thomas Bridges company Sons, doing street improvement work, and other concerns using a great deal of common labor, have employed about all the available men. The Illinois Central wants to rush the installation of this job and a special officer this morning took a negro out of a box car, where he had gone to sleep and put him to work in preference to prosecuting him for disorderly conduct.

Work Roads Labor Day.

Guthrie, Okla., Sept. 5.—Labor Day was generally observed throughout Oklahoma. At Skiatook all the male inhabitants, together with the farmers of the surrounding country, assembled and worked the roads.

NO CANDIDATES

FOR SCHOOL BOARD AND SOME COUNCIL VACANCIES.

Democrats May Call Off Primary and Nominate in a Mass Convention.

It is possible that the primary will be given up by the city Democrats, because of the failure of a sufficient number of candidates for the various offices to announce and at a meeting of the committee tomorrow night, it will be decided whether vacancies will be filled on the ticket, or whether a convention will be called for the purpose of making nominations. For the seven places in the lower board of the city council only in three wards have candidates appeared, while no one seems to care to tackle the school board proposition. Five candidates have appeared for the four aldermanic seats, and two candidates for judge of the police court.

The candidates are:
For Police Judge—E. H. Pryear and D. A. Cross.

Aldermen—

Aldermen—E. W. Baker, J. W. Little, E. D. Hannan, George Willow, Ernest F. Niemann.

Councilmen—

First ward—H. R. Lindsey.
Second ward—No candidate.
Third ward—Al Foreman, James Segenfelder.

Fourth ward—Alonzo E. Crandell, Young Taylor.

Fifth ward—No candidate.

Sixth ward—No candidate.

Both Badly Battered.

Goldfield, Nev., Sept. 5.—Neither Gans nor Nelson was stirring this morning, though Gans probably will come in from Columbia later in the day. Nelson is so badly battered that he will stay indoors until he can leave town. He will not linger longer than is necessary, as he probably is the most unpopular man who ever visited Goldfield.

HUSBAND STABS WIFE'S COMPANION

Albert Rogers is in a Serious Condition.

George Allman, Ship Carpenter, Surprises Pair in His Home and Begins Attack.

ARRESTED WITH HIS WIFE.

Bleeding from several serious knife wounds Albert Rogers, formerly a cab driver, ran with his clothes under his arms to seek the protection of policemen to escape the vengeance of George Allman, a ship carpenter, who had but a few moments before caught Rogers in a compromising position with his wife. As a result of the affair Allman was arrested for malicious cutting and his victim is lying seriously wounded while his wife is at the city hall with her young child toddling about her feet, pending prosecution for immorality.

Last night about 10:30 o'clock Allman returned home from a trip to Fulton, where he had gone to secure work on the Illinois Central railroad. He had been employed on the local marine ways, but had not been working of late. He resides at 906 North Eighth street. Mounting the steps he heard his wife's voice, warning a companion that some one was attempting to enter the house.

Allman realized something was wrong, and taking out his knife ripped the screen open and entered the door. He found Rogers lying in bed. Rushing onto the startled young man he began to slash. Grabbing what few clothes he could, Rogers made for the door but not until several ugly gashes had been inflicted in his sides, on his arm and his head.

Policeman Courtney Long was sent to the scene and arrested the woman, but Rogers was too seriously wounded to go to the hall. He was attended by City Physician Bass at his home.

This morning a warrant for malicious cutting was sworn out against Allman. On account of Rogers' condition it is impossible to tell when the case will be tried.

On advice of City Physician Bass it was decided that Rogers should be taken to the city jail this afternoon. His wounds are not so dangerous that moving will endanger the patient. The authorities believe he may try to escape.

Mrs. Allman is still at the city hall unable to give bond. She is not in jail, but spent the morning and afternoon in the city court room. She ate dinner in the court-room.

LILY PAD PRISONERS.

Family Marooned and Found by Hunters.

Vacherie, La., Sept. 5.—Hunters last night found a man with his wife and infant son practically marooned on the shore of Lake Attalinda. Lily pads having made it impossible for them to row their boat away from the place. The man refused to give his name, but said he was from Mississippi and bound for Morgan City. He said he had been caught in the lily pads for eighteen days, having made almost no progress at all during that time. The family was living on crabs and wild beans. The hunters supplied them with provisions, but an offer to take them overland to Morgan City was refused.

DYNAMITE WRECKS TRAIN.

Believed to Have Been Intended for Mail.

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 5.—A Wisconsin Central ore train was wrecked by dynamite. It is believed to have been intended for a passenger train carrying valuable mail and express last night. Engineer Wilson and Fireman Walsh were badly injured. The dynamite was placed in a switch frog. The tracks were torn up.

Hargis Feared Death.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 5.—According to statement made here today by Judge James Hargis, of Jackson, he was also marked for destruction by Curtis Jett the same morning the latter killed James B. Marcum. Hargis said he had been told by several of the best men in Breathitt county to whom Jett had discussed the Marcum killing that Jett had stated to them that it was his purpose to kill Hargis had he attempted personally to investigate the killing of Marcum.

Paducah at Vincennes.
Jacksonville at Danville.

Vincennes, Ind., Sept. 5.—Another extra inning tie game goes to the credit of the Indians and Hoosiers and will mark a record in any league for extra inning tie games between two teams.

Yesterday the Indians and Hoosiers went fourteen innings and the game was called on account of darkness. The day before the two teams battled until darkness in the last game of a double-header and the desperate fight being put up drew out a crowd. Brahmie was in the box for the visitors and Farrell for the locals. Both were in good trim and the game started out by Paducah scoring on an error, sacrifice and two singles. The Hoosiers scored later on a fielder's choice, stolen base and passed ball. Downing was still disabled and Taylor was behind the bat. Each catcher had a passed ball. Brahmie struck out two and Farrell seven. The feature of the game was the fast work of the Hoosiers when two double plays were pulled off.

Wiley Platt, the Indians' star twinkler, got mad at the rooting of Frank Dollahan and invited him out of the grandstand. He came, and seizing a bat, struck Platt three times. Platt is not badly hurt.

"William J. Bryan in Cairo? Oh, no, it's only M. J. Farnbaker with his mustache off."

"For 25 years a beautiful bunch of hair has adorned the upper lip of the chief baseball fan of the Kitty league and through the failure of Cairo to win the pennant this year he has lost it."

"Farnbaker early in the season was so confident that the local team would carry off the honors that he made a wager of his mustache against a book of cigarette papers. Now that all hopes of winning the prize have gone a glimmering—so has the mustache."

—Cairo Bulletin.

George Ames, first with Paducah, then with Jacksonville, is now pitching fine ball for Evansville in the Central league. He recently pitched a three-hit game, and whenever he works makes a record. Is the Kitty faster than the Central or was Ames' worth overestimated?

Platt's record since he came back to the Kitty league is bad. He has won fewer games comparatively than any Indian pitcher. He won 18 out of 25 for Toledo before he left that team.

Mattoon, of Vincennes, will join Evansville the first of next week to catch.

Eddie Taylor is playing good ball behind the bat for the Indians.

Humors of Composition.

A literary paper fans us acceptably with some choice if not wholly unfamiliar achievements of the "wild compositor." William Black, it seems, had four times to beg his printers to let one of his heroines die of opium. They had insisted on making her die of "opinion." By an error, the announcement, "A sailor, going to sea, his wife desires the prayers of the congregation" became "A sailor going to see his wife desires the prayers of the congregation."

Peculiarly dangerous is the compositor who puts in a little editing. "What is this? Sermons in stone, books in the running brooks!" Impossible! He means of course, "Sermons in books and stones in the running brooks." Thus was Shakespeare amended. Very happy, however, was the literal correction of "Bring me my toga" into "Bring me my toes."—London Chronicle.

DEADLOCK HOLDS IN SCHOOL BOARD

Full Attendance and Usual
Tie Vote Obtain.

Superintendent Lieb and Committee
Will Fill Vacancies Pending Action.

MANY REPORTS ARE ADOPTED

Every proposition and counter-proposition offered by either faction as a solution to the deadlock in the school board was defeated by the usual tie vote at the meeting of the school board last night.

A motion was made and carried to allow the visitors present, of whom there were 20 to address the board from their point of view. This motion was carried after much unfruitful discussion and was made by Mr. Walston.

Mr. Gus Singleton, Mr. Dick Sathierland, Mr. Joe Potter recommended Miss Morgan and challenged any proof of inefficiency against her. Alderman Miller declined to take issue in the controversy, but presented to the board, the result of his investigation into the question whether the committee on examinations and course of study with the superintendent had the power to appoint the teachers, should the board fail to elect. He thought they did not. As his reason for taking that view, he said that the by-laws were not valid where they conflicted with the charter and that the charter did not delegate this duty to that committee. He also thought that the salaries of teachers appointed in such an emergency, could not be collected.

Attorney J. G. Miller endorsed Alderman Miller's stand.

Will Appoint Teachers.

After the meeting, Supt. Lieb said: "It is my duty, and I shall appoint teachers to every vacancy which exists in the schools at their opening, Monday, September 10."

He based his attitude on section 13 of Rule 35, which says: "He (the superintendent) shall designate such temporary substitutes as may be needed."

Continuing he said: "I do not believe as was suggested, that the charter conflicts with the by-laws. The charter says that the board may delegate to committees its powers and duties. The power to fill vacancies has been delegated by the board to the committee on examinations and course of study with the advice of the superintendent. In the emergency of no action by the board, the teachers will be appointed from month to month and it is my opinion that the board can not avoid payment of salaries. Understand, that it is in no spirit of antagonism with the board that I shall do this. As I read the charter and by-laws, it is my duty to fill all temporary vacancies, and not to do so, whatever the attitude of the board, would be failing to do my duty."

In the further discussion of the situation informally, many charges were made and answered, in the course of which charges against Miss Morgan were made and defended. Prof. Payne was brought into the discussion by an assertion that he had taken part in the controversy. He arose to deny this, saying that his duty was confined solely to making

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous for Paducah People to Neglect.

The great danger of kidney trouble is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, soreness, lumbago, urinary troubles, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills, which has cured people right here in Paducah.

Mrs. M. S. Smith, residing at 323 Jefferson street, says: "I have complained of kidney complaint for a number of years. It dates back to 1884. I suffered with a very distressing weakness of the kidneys which annoyed me day and night. There was often a dull pain across my back over the kidneys. It was these complaints which induced me to get Doan's Kidney Pills. After taking the treatment for a short time I noticed a great change in my condition and the improvement continued steadily. I feel better than I have felt for a long time. Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent remedy and it is a pleasure for me to recommend them."

D. E. WILSON at Harbour's Book Dep't

Recommendations to the superintendent about the teachers in his building, and that he had not done anything further than that.

As was announced at the previous meeting, it was then suggested that Prof. Payne state the charges against Miss Morgan, but Mr. Beckenbach objected to an accusation without the presence of the accused.

Mr. Walston then suggested that the election of the other teachers be gone into and that they reserve for some other meeting to take place before Monday night, the settlement of the English vacancy. He said it at that time, in the presence of the board, Miss Morgan and Prof. Payne, the charges against Miss Morgan were not substantiated, he would change his attitude and vote for her as teacher of English. The motion was lost by a tie vote.

Mr. Beckenbach made a motion that the board ballot on the English position until some member changed his attitude and the difficulty was settled, even if they should stay there all night. The motion was lost by the regular tie vote. Mr. Walston's motion to go into the election of all teachers met a similar end. Mr. Walston made a counter-motion to Mr. Beckenbach's all-night program, that the board ballot a definite number of times, not to exceed 25 for English teacher, and then, if no solution was reached, to go into the election of other teachers. Mr. Beckenbach defeated this motion.

Mr. Troutman said he opposed the election of Miss Morgan, as a member of the committee on examinations and course of study, because she had not been recommended for re-election by the superintendent and principal, and answered spiritedly insinuations that they were leading him about with a collar.

In many of the points of order of business it was evident that the board was lost in a parliamentary labyrinth of its own building.

Committee Reports.

In all other committee reports, no disagreement occurred. J. J. Bleich has brought suit against the school board for the payment of $25, which he alleges are due him on a contract to keep the clocks in all the buildings in repair for one year. It was stated in previous meetings that he had not done this and the finance committee was instructed to compromise the contract price with him on the basis of what he had done. They did not succeed and now he sues. The finance committee was instructed to continue negotiations toward an amicable settlement of the matter.

Superintendent of Buildings Hoyer reported that he had not been able to secure a private settlement of the damage done to the Franklin building by boys, from their parents, and that neither Judge Lightfoot nor Judge Puryear would issue warrants for the boys, who are, alleged to be Raymond Bamberger, Units Pullin, Merrett Pullin, Carter Bass, Charles Bass and James Morrison. The report was filed.

The secretary's report of the finances for the last year showed that a total of $72,411.42 had been received, and that a total of $72,189.89 had been disbursed. The balance is $221.53.

In Superintendent Lieb's report, he stated that there probably would be difficulty in securing a sufficient number of teachers this late in the year. Two resignations were accepted, Miss Nannie Cullom and Prof. J. S. Ragsdale. They have been efficient teachers.

The committee on libraries and laboratories reported that it would require $1,000 for each building to adequately equip them, and the condition of the finances of the schools, with the necessity of erecting a new building in Rowlandtown, make it impracticable to take any further steps now.

The president's action in recommending sidewalks on Ohio street for the school children was ratified.

The payrolls and miscellaneous bills were allowed.

The need of new stoves in some of the buildings was ordered attended to.

William Burford was appointed to succeed janitor in the Lee building. In the disposition of the old Mechanicsburg school property to the Christian church, the president was instructed to let up the purchasers who have been dilatory in signing the papers in the sale.

The minutes of the last meeting and of the called meetings were adopted without protest.

All members were present.

When We Move, What Comes of It?

A turtle sunned himself in the sun; (A turtle's work is always done.) A young but forward water-bug With visage sleek and manner smug— Came floating by.

The turtle smiled, and with a "My!" These words of wisdom did apply: "Well, say, for downright, honest sloth,

You take the undiluted broth— You lack as much of it as wit. For here you sit and sit and sit; See how I skim the water o'er, And lightly jump from shore to shore— Bestir a bit."

The turtle blinked a dreamy eye, And he caught a saucy fly. Replied, in drowsy monotone; 'Tis not how much we skim or sit, Nor merely how we sleep or sit, But when we move, what comes of it— I'll stir a bit."

Then swam the water slowly o'er, And ate of water-bugs a score— Or more. —Peebles Magazine.

A REAL SKIDDOO PARTY.

Miss Margaret Schidu has sent out invitations to 23 girls for a party in honor of her 23rd birthday for the 23rd of September at her home, 23 East Twenty-third street. She says it will be a "skidoo" party.

"People have joked with my name so much that I'm going to have some fun myself," said Miss Schidu. "There will be 23 candles on the birthday cake, souvenir cards lettered 23 will be given to 23 guests, an orchestra of 23 pieces will play behind a bank of 23 palms. In the evening at my uncle's farm, which contains 23 and a fraction acres, there will be dancing with 23 numbers on the program."—Cleveland Cor. N. Y. Sun.

"No," answered Mr. Gazzle. "But considering the chances I have learned to take without flinching I ought to be one to my chauffeur."—Washington Star.

W. L. Douglas is a progressive shoe manufacturer. His shoes ought to be better each season, and they are better. While he always makes them as good as he knows how, yet as quickly as he discovers ways of betterment, the betterments are made. He never buys any but the very best selected materials. If the market does not afford what W. L. Douglas believes his shoes demand, he makes it. W. L. Douglas passes the tanner and tans sole leather by his own secret process. That is one reason why W. L. Douglas $3.50 shoes afford such unusual service. Then, again, the upper leather is as good as the sole leather, and the making is as honest as the leather.

For these reasons and because of his unrivalled facilities as the largest shoemaker in the world, it is only natural that W. L. WIFE'S LEG Center of Legal controversy in Pennsylvania.

Pittsburg, Sept. 5.—Is a person's wooden leg part of that person? Does a man who marries a girl with a wooden leg take said wooden limb for better or worse?

This pair of questions will be answered by the courts of Allegheny county as the result of an appeal which has just been taken from the decision of an alderman here. Dr. Clarence Gukert, a Pittsburg dentist, has been sued by Dr. R. H. McKensie for the recovery of $100, the price of a wooden limb furnished some years ago to a young woman who has since become Mrs. Kinkert. The suit was brought before Alderman Charles Anderson, and the hearing was quite interesting, though it was not made public at the time. Former City Attorney Stephen Porter, of Allegheny, appeared for the defendant, and the than her glove or finger ring. Dr. not marry that wooden leg; that the wooden limb was really not part of the new Mrs. Gukert, nor had it ever been, and that it was no part of her than her glove or finger ring. Dr. McKensie's side of the argument was that the husband was responsible for the bills of his wife.

And They Sue The Paducah-Cairo Packet Company.

Allege They Were Discriminated Against in Trip From Cairo to Metropolis.

JUDGE E. W. BAGBY DEFENDS.

Attorney E. W. Bagby, representing the Paducah and Cairo Packet company, returned last night from Cairo, and will prepare to defend the company in five damage suits brought against it by negroes who resented an alleged discrimination in violation of the Illinois statutes.

"Five negroes boarded the Dick Fowler at Cairo August 8," Attorney Bagby remarked. "They wanted to go to Metropolis and were assigned to the upper cabin. They refused to take the berths and left the boat. The suits followed, each asking for $2,000. The petitions allege that the upper cabin is not as good as the lower and that discrimination was exercised. The upper cabin is even better than the lower one, in many respects."

Judge Bagby will set about preparing his defense at once.

Theatrical Notes

There is a very funny line in Tom Walter's new piece, "The Mayor of Laughland," where after he has been elected mayor, the director of public safety tells him that the population of the town just doubles up in summer time. "You don't say so," says Walters as the mayor—"summer boarders or green apples?"

Misdirected Wisdom.

A benevolent old gentleman brimful of information saw a rustic sitting on a fence gazing earnestly at telegraph wires. Going up to the countryman, he said:

"Waiting to see a message go 'long leh?"

The man grinned and said, "Ay."

The benevolent old gentleman got on the wall, and for the next quarter of an hour tried hard to dispel his ignorance.

"Now," said he at last, "as you know something about the matter, I hope you will spread your knowledge among your mates on the farm."

"Where, then, may I ask?"

"But I don't work on a farm," replied the rustic citizen.

"Me and my mates are telegraph linemen, and we are testing a new wire."

BANDIT WAS SHOT

But Only With a Camera When He Held Up the Coach.

Wawona, Cal., Sept. 5.—Three miles from Ahwahsee, a Yosemite stage was held up yesterday. It was driven by Bright Gillespie, who took President Roosevelt and his party through the park on their visit three years ago. The bandit lined the passengers up in the road. Mr. Wertmer Boshop, of New York, was the first passenger searched and $7.50 taken from him. Mr. Bishop snapped the robber's picture. A. F. Ormsbee, a friend of Mr. Bishop's from Brooklyn, N. Y., lost $13. He took two snapshots of the robber. Two of the passengers were women. They took the holdup as though it was a part of the trip.

A soldier passenger was asked to get out of the stage. He had a loaded rifle and took aim but was prevented from shooting by his fellow passengers.

FAVORS THE BLOCK SWITCHES.

Washington, Sept. 5.—Efforts are being made to induce President Roosevelt to submit to the operation of having a cast of his face made in plaster. The matter has been broached to Mrs. Roosevelt by a friend of the family, and the former is said to have replied to the tentative inquiry as to whether the chief executive would be willing to submit to the ordeal in question:

"Why, how long would it take to make the cast?"

"About twenty minutes," replied the friend.

"Then that settles it," returned Mrs. Roosevelt, "no human power could induce my husband to remain still twenty minutes."

THE BATH COMEDY

Title suggests all sorts of things but as our readers doubtless know it refers to that unusually fine story (we've got it for you) by AGNES AND EGERTON CASTLE, authors of "The Pride of Jennico."

Bath is the famous watering place of England. The scene is laid there during the closing years of the eighteenth century, a romantic period prolific of tragedies and comedies; a time when gentlemen did not keep their emotions confined in a straight jacket, but became violently apoplectic from rage and wine, settling their differences with the ready sword which hung handy at their side.

Sir Jasper Standish, suddenly becoming jealous of his wife, a bride of three months, furnishes all the laughs you want in the ludicrous mistakes he makes while pursuing hotfoot the object of his wrath.

Mistress Kitty Bellairs, prototype of SWEET KITTY BELLAIRS of stage fame, is the moving spirit, the boss schemer behind it all. "A pendulum betwixt a smile and tear" aptly describes the reader of this charming comedy, one moment watching breathlessly the sword play in a hot fight, the next splitting his sides over Sir Jasper's impotent wrath or absurd blunder.

Its heroine, Mistress Kitty Bellairs, has become famous on the comedy stage since Agnes and Egerton Castle first introduced her to their readers. She is a dashing, alluring figure, and her adventures are such as naturally befell a vivacious and not too prudish beauty in those good old days.—Charleston (S. C.) News and Courier.

WHAT IMMIGRATION MEANS.
Death of labor is the great drawback of the south, felt in every community, retarding every line of enterprise and depriving every property owner in some measure of the just returns of his fruit. It is this fact that has set on foot an investigation into industrial conditions, out of which was evolved the immigration movement that has gained such widespread popularity.

This death of common labor not only cripples factories in meeting their demands, planters in harvesting their crops and householders in keeping up their establishments, but it actually interferes with the development of the country to its full wealth producing capacity. It is there that the condition is serious and there is no hope in the outlook for the natural gain in population.

This shortage of labor is used with telling effect by commercial and industrial bodies in other parts of the country to the serious detriment of the progress of the entire south, and as it is well known that there is no surplus of labor in any portion of the south, it is a matter of vital importance to the progress of Paducah and other towns and localities in Jackson's Purchase, that we make every effort to overcome these conditions.

The farmers of Jackson's Purchase have been blessed with bounteous crops, and throughout this section the cry goes up for help. Men and women unused to such labor, have been compelled to assist in the field and in the harvest to protect the immense crops and save them from loss.

The factories in Paducah on some instances have found it difficult to secure sufficient labor to operate their plants to the full capacity. Especially is this true where a large amount of female labor is used. Happily, there is no shortage in Paducah of skilled labor, as all the lines that employ expert labor and mechanics are well supplied.

In the homes of Paducah people, in the hotels and restaurants, it is almost impossible to get reliable help. That this condition affects the progress of the city, we have only to refer to the fact that recently the Paducah portunity to locate a large branch factory of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe company, owing to the fact that the representatives of this company feared they could not secure sufficient help in Paducah and surrounding territory to operate their great plant. They would have employed from 800 to 1,200 hands.

Under the circumstances, we can well understand why the citizens of Paducah are enthusiastic over this plan of the Commercial club to bring a large number of desirable immigrants from abroad to settle on our vacant land, to supply labor for our fields, to fill vacant positions in our factories, and to supply servants in the homes of people. It is a movement of vital importance to the citizens of Jackson's Purchase, to the farmers of McCracken county, and to the business men of Paducah, and it is highly gratifying to see the great interest that is being shown by our local people in this work of the Commercial club. We are not alone in this movement. Other cities throughout the south are organizing.

It is not the purpose of the Commercial club in Jackson's Purchase to promote a movement that will effect skilled labor in any measure, except beneficiary by creating more demand for house and construction work. That it will greatly benefit the farmers throughout Jackson's Purchase, by the location of a large number of immigrants of the right sort on suitable farms as truck farmers, must be self-evident to every thinking person. These thrifty, intelligent immigrants from abroad farming on land now unproductive, will add to the material wealth and prosperity of every property owner in southwestern Kentucky.

This movement should appeal not only to the citizens of Paducah, but to every land owner in McCracken county. The indications are that this movement will meet with large success.

The design of the Paducah Commercial club is to make it a thoroughly popular movement, embracing every interest in Jackson's Purchase, and taking in Cairo and Metropolis, which also would be benefited by the plan of work mapped out. The convention to be held on October 4 and 5, should be attended by every business man and property owner in Paducah. The attendance from other sections of the Purchase promises to be large, and as a result of this convention, ten thousand people, having property interests in Jackson's Purchase, ought to enroll themselves as members of the immigration bureau of the Paducah Commercial club.

The Commercial clubs, mayors and leading citizens of Kuttawa, Marion, Murray, Benton, Mayfield, Hickman, Milburn and Columbus, should join hands with the Paducah Commercial club in this great effort. The Louisville Commercial club has been invited and it is believed that it will send a strong delegation to co-operate with the progressive people of southwestern Kentucky in this immigration movement.

It is the opportune time for strong, energetic work in the interest of immigration, and the up-building of this end of the state. The success of this movement is of vast more importance to the business men of Jackson's Purchase than a few days, time in ordinary routine of business. Every individual is urged to constitute himself a delegate to the convention.

Stensland squandered over $1,000,000 in Chicago real estate and then "it out" with a measly $1,400. This is meant as no reflection on Chicago real estate, but he would have done better to have deposited the money in escrow and then persuaded the Moroccan bandit to kidnap him and hold him for ransom. He is an outcast indeed, with every man's hand against him, while the pious Herring lies in the Chicago jail with bond heaped on bond until his release is impossible.

A few short weeks ago both were in positions of trust, respected, confident, in and able to command fortunes for their ventures. Today the meanest felon is the equal of either of them. It is a common saying, that if a man steals enough he can keep out of the penitentiary. Stensland and his partner stole millions, but nothing less than the hand of death itself can save them from a prison cell. It is with just such cases as this that justice should deal swiftly and relentlessly. Every man, who might have stopped their plundering, and is within reach of the law should be made to feel the weight of his criminal folly. In this way only can weak men be taught to respect their trusts. It was the liberal reward so promptly offered by the Chicago Clearing House association that stimulated the pursuit of Stensland to success, and, perhaps, no body of men is more eager to see Stensland and all his aids to crime meet their deserts than the Chicago bankers.

drive away thousands of Democrats, and to them I bid God speed." Then he adds that he thinks, in spite of the loss of thousands of Democrats, who, it is to be presumed, will vote for the other fellow, Bryan will be elected, if nominated. It's a safe venture that Tom Johnson doesn't show such reckless disregard of thousands of Democratic votes at the Cleveland municipal elections.

It is good evidence of the manner in which The Sun covers the local news field that candidates of all parties announce through its columns. Hon. John K. Hendrick, announced last week, and today D. A. Cross and E. H. Puryear, candidates for city judge before the Democratic primaries, declare through this medium their aspirations to their constituency. It is a tribute to the wisdom of these excellent gentlemen that they know how to reach a majority of the people of Paducah.

Battling Nelson is said to be the most unpopular man in Godfield, Nev., but it is doubtful if the little prize fighter returns the sentiment. The town will always be a gold field in his memory, for he is carrying away $22,000 as the loser's end of the purse.

McChesney is out of the race for auditor. That leaves Hines for Beckham to support. Now, what do the fellows who have been talking about a broken-down machine, say?

Hopkinsville has covered up the suggestive lithograph, begun to enforce the vagrancy law and organized a Hays club. Hopstom must be growing pessimistic.

THE WALSH CASE.

The letter of Charles A. Walsh, of Iowa, resigning his membership of the national Democratic committee, is suggestive, if not important. Mr. Walsh is a follower of Mr. Hearst. He is a man of strong convictions, of thorough integrity and courage. If what we may call the concrete reasons for his act—that is, the personality and political complexion of the campaign management in 1904—constituted all, or the more essential part of Mr. Walsh's alienation, we might dismiss it as true in the main, but insufficient. Each tub must stand on its own bottom. The men who gathered about Judge Parker in 1904 are not likely to gather about Mr. Bryan in 1908. We must look further for Mr. Walsh's real motive and purpose.

The Independence League, an organization created by the newspapers and the money of Mr. Hearst, and meant to minister to the ambitions or to advance the theories—whichever way we may choose to consider it—of the omnipresent yet invisible editor, claims an enrolled membership of more than a million voters. Its bone and sinew are the labor unions. In case the Democrats put up a nominee for governor of New York this fall other than Mr. Hearst, we shall see its actual and exact strength, for Mr. Hearst is already in the field as its candidate for governor. He means, and it means, and Mr. Walsh means, a New Party.

This New Party will be satisfied with nothing short of a line of policies totally destructive of existing conditions. With each step of progression taken by either of the Old Parties the New Party takes a stride. It seeks affirmatively to represent the discontents of the time. If Mr. Bryan thought to placate it by touching upon Government Ownership—which is one of its hobbies—he will find himself mistaken; because no sooner shall Mr. Bryan appear as the presidential nominee of any responsible body of men than the Independence League will consider him a traitor to the cause of human rights. To go the whole hog or none is alone its motto and requirement, and as Mr. Hearst not only fills the bill, but has a bar of his own at his command, nobody but Mr. Hearst need apply.—Courier Journal.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 5.—The world-famous collection of precious stones and jewelry, the property of the late Mrs. Jane Stanford, valued at nearly $1,000,000, will be sold by the trustees of Leland Stanford university as soon as possible. Part of the collection will be disposed of at private sale, many offers from leading eastern jewelers being already on file. Those unsold will be put up at auction in New York and London. The trustees say their action is merely carrying out the expressed wishes of Mrs. Stanford that the jewels be sold and a library established with the proceeds, the income from which shall be used for the purchase of books.

Chicago, Sept. 5.—The public schools opened here today for the fall and winter term with one of the three "R's" left out. No readers were provided, and the principals of all the schools had received the following order from the board of education: "To Principals: Please advise the pupils of your school not to purchase any text books on reading until further notice." The order is due to a complication which has arisen over the effort to substitute a new series of readers in the schools.

An Assistant of Nature.

One of the most interesting things of this day of interesting things is the great success being achieved by osteopathy.

There is hardly a day that some cure which is deserving of attracting much attention, is not made by this new science, and the more it is studied, the better it is known, the easier it is to see why it is so. Osteopathy merely aids nature to cure.

It is a system of healing built up on demonstrable facts. It discovers the cause of disease, and treats it by scientific manipulations in order to correct disorders and bring about a natural condition. Nearly all diseases yield to the treatment, and the diseases local to Paducah do so most readily. In rheumatism, liver and bowel, or stomach troubles, chronic headaches, tired-out, run-down conditions, nervousness, its success has been very marked.

I should like to have you call to discuss your particular case at any time, and not only will I tell you frankly what osteopathy will do for you, but refer you to well-known Paducah people whom it has done much for.

The Manager Of the B. & A.

By VAUGHAN KESTER

Copyright, 1901, by Harper & Brothers

As they swung past Parker's Run a little farther on Dan saw the freight, or, rather, what was left of it, on the siding. It had been cutting out four flat cars loaded with ties, and he understood the difficulty at a glance. On the main track a brick and stone culvert spanned the run, but the siding crossed it on a flimsy wooden bridge. This bridge had probably been burning as the freight backed in for the flat cars, and when it attempted to pull out the weakened structure had collapsed and the engine had its forward end jammed between the steep banks, with its big drivers in the air. Of the cars there remained only the trucks and ironwork. Near by a tool shed had formerly stood, but that was gone too. The wheels and gearing of a hand car in the midst of a heap of ashes marked the spot.

Dan turned to his father. "Are you all right, daddy?" he asked.

"Yes, Dan."

"Mind your footing. It will be pretty shaky back there."

They were still in the burned district, where a change in the wind that afternoon had driven the fire back on itself. It had made a clean sweep of everything inflammable. Luckily the road had been freshly ballasted, and the track was in fair condition to resist the flames. But an occasional fire smoldered, and from these the rushing train thrashed showers of sparks.

Dan kept his eyes fastened on the rails, which showed plainly in the jerky glare of the headlights. It was well to be careful while care was possible. By and by he would have to throw aside all caution and trust to chance. Now he increased his speed, and the insistent hum of the wheels drowned every other sound, even the far-off roar of the flames. At his back at intervals a ruddy glow shot upward into the night when Roger Oakley threw open the furnace door to pass in coal. Save for this it was just a dark line in the cab, where Dan sat with his hand on the throttle lever and watched the yellow streak that ran along the rails in advance of the engine. Suddenly the wall of light ahead brightened visibly, and its glare filled the cab. They were nearing the fire.

Dan jammed the little window at his elbow open and put out his head. A hot blast roared past him, and the heat of the fire was in his face. He drew the window shut. It was light as day in the cab now.

He leaned across the boiler's end and, with a hand to his lips, called to his father, "Are you all right?"

The old man drew himself erect and crept nearer.

"What's that you say, Dan?" he asked. His face was black with coal dust and grime.

"Are you all right? Can you bear the heat?"

"I am doing very nicely, but this ain't a patch on what it's going to be."

"Yes, it will be much worse, though this is bad enough."

"But we can stand it. We must think of those poor people at Antioch."

"We'll stick to the engine as long as the engine sticks to the rails," said Dan grimly. "Hain't you better come into the cab with me? You'll be frightened exposed when we get into the thick of it."

"Not yet, Dan. I'll give you team, and you drive her as hard as you can."

He turned away, above in hand. Then, all in a second, and they were in the burning woods, rushing beneath trees that were blazing to their very summits. The track seemed to shake and tremble in the fierce light and leering heat. Burning leaves and branches were caught up to be whirled in fiery eddies back down the rails as the train rode along, for Dan was hitting hot up.

Tongues of fire struck across at the two men. Smoke and fine white ashes filled their mouths and nostrils. Their bodies seemed to bake. They had been streaming wet with perspiration a moment before.

Off in the forest it was possible to see for miles. Every tree and bush stood forth distinct and separate.

Roger Oakley put down his shovel for an instant to fill a bucket with water from the tank on the tender. He plunged his head and arms in it and splashed the rest over his clothes. Dan turned to him for the last time.

"It isn't far now," he panted. "Just around the next curve and we'll see the town if it's still there off in the valley."

The old convict did not catch more than the half of what he said, but he smiled and nodded his head.

As they swung around the curve a lead sycamore which the fire had girdled at the base crashed across the track. The engine plunged under it, top, rolled it over once and tossed it aside. There was the smashing of glass and the ripping of leather as the sycamore's limbs raked the cab, and Roger Oakley uttered a hoarse cry—a cry Dan did not hear, but he turned, spitting dust and cinders from his lips, and saw the old convict still standing, thovel in hand, in the narrow gangway that separated the engine and tender.

He had set the whistle shrieking, and cut high above the roar of the flames, for off in the distance under a canopy of smoke he saw the lights of Antioch shining among the trees.

Two minutes later and they were running smoothly through the yards, with the brakes on and the hiss of steam.

Dan turned, spitting dust and cinders from his lips.

saying steam. As they slowed up beside the depot Dan sank down on the seat in the cab limp and exhausted. He was vaguely conscious that the platform was crowded with people and that they were yelling at him excitedly and waving their hats, but he heard their cries only indifferently well. His ears were dead to everything except the noise of his engine, which still echoed in his tired brain.

He staggered to his feet and was about to descend from the cab when he saw that his father was lying face down on the iron shelf between the engine and tender. He stooped and raised him gently in his arms.

The old convict opened his eyes and looked up into his face, his lips parted as if he were about to speak, but no sound came from them.

CHAPTER XXIV.

CONSTANCE EMORY and her mother, waiting quietly in their home, heard the cheers when the noise from Dan's shrieking engine reached the crowd of desperate men on the square. Then presently they heard the rattle and crash of the fire engines as they were dragged through the street and were aware that the relief train had arrived, but it was not until the doctor came in some time long after midnight that they knew who had been the savior of the town.

"It's all over, dear. The fire is under control," he said cheerfully, addressing his wife. "I guess we can go to bed now and feel pretty sure we won't be burned out before morning."

Constance put down the book she had been trying to read and rose tiredly and stiffly from her chair beside the table.

"Then the train did come, after all?" she said.

"Yes, but not a moment too soon. I tell you we can't be grateful enough. I've been with Oakley and his father. That's what kept me," he explained.

"Oakley!" Constance cried in amazement. "You don't mean?"

"Yes. Didn't you know that it was Oakley and his father who brought the relief train? The old man is dead. He was killed on the way. It's a miracle that any of them got through alive. Hain't you heard?"

Constance put out her hands blindly, for a sudden mist had come before her eyes.

"Father, you don't mean that Mr. Oakley has returned to Antioch—that he is here now?"

"Yes, it seems no one else would come. Oakley was in Chicago when he first heard of the fire and started immediately for Buckhorn, where he found the relief train. Oddly enough, he found his father there too."

"Then there was something to the old man after all," said Mrs. Emory, whose sympathies were as generous as those were easily aroused.

"A good deal, I should say. He must have known that he was coming back to arrest and almost certain conviction."

"Constance's glance searched her father's face. She wanted to hear more of Oakley. Her heart was hungering for news of this man who had risked his life to save them. All her lingering tenderness, the unwilling growth of many days, was sweeping away the barriers of her pride. "Mr. Oakley, was not hurt?" she questioned breathlessly, pale to the lips.

"He is pretty badly shaken up, and no wonder, but he will be all right in the morning."

"Where is he now?" she asked.

Her father turned to her.

"Oakley—You look tired out, Constance. Do go to bed. I'll tell you all about it in the morning."

"Where is he now, papa?" she questioned, going to his side and clasping her hands about his arm.

"Down at the shop. They carried his father there from the train."

"Why didn't you have them bring him here?" said Mrs. Emory quickly.

"After this I won't listen to a word against either of them. I would like to show the town just how we feel in the matter."

"I suggested it, but Oakley wouldn't hear to it. But don't worry about the town. It's gone wild. You should have seen the crowd on the platform when it saw Oakley in the engine cab. It went stark mad."

Again Constance's eyes swam with tears. The strike, the murder of Ryder, the fire, had each seemed in turn a part of the tragedy of her life at Antioch, but Oakley's return was wholly glorious.

Her father added, "I shall see Oakley in the morning and learn if we can be of any service to him."

A little later, when Constance went to her own room, she drew forward a chair and seated herself by the window. Across the town, on the edge of the "flats," she saw dimly the long, dark outline of the railroad shop, with its single tall chimney. She thought of Oakley as alone there keeping watch at the side of the grim old murderer who had so splendidly redeemed himself by this last sacrifice.

Great clouds of black smoke were still rolling over the town, and the woods were still blazing fiercely in the distance. Beyond her window she heard the call of frightened birds as they fluttered to and fro in the dull red light, and farther off, in the north end, the muffled throbbing of the fire engines.

If she had had any doubts as to her feeling for Oakley these doubts were now a thing of the past. She knew that she loved him. She had been petty and vain. She had put the small things of life against the great, and this was her punishment. She tried to comfort herself with the thought that she should see him in the morning. Then she could tell him all. But what could she tell him? The time had gone by when she could tell him anything.

It was almost morning when she undressed and threw herself down on her bed. She was disconsolate and miserable, and the future seemed quite barren of hope or happiness. Love had come to her, and she had not known it, and she had been little and narrow and utterly unworthy. He had cared for her, and perhaps he would understand. She fell asleep thinking this and did not wake until her mother called her for breakfast.

"I am waiting for your father. He has gone down to see Mr. Oakley," Mrs. Emory said when she entered the dining room. Constance glanced at the table.

"Is he going to bring Mr. Oakley back with him?" she asked nervously.

"He expected to. I declare, Constance, you look worn out. Didn't you sleep well?"

"No, not very. I wonder if they are coming?"

"You might go look," said her mother. And Constance hurried into the parlor. She was just in time to see her father enter the gate. He was alone. Constance flew to the front door and threw it open.

"He wouldn't come?" she cried breathlessly.

"He's gone,"

"Gone?"

"Yes, a train was made up early this morning, and he has returned to Buckhorn—Why, what's the matter, Constance?"

For Constance, with a little gasp of dismay, had slipped down into a chair, with her hands before her face.

"What is it, dear?" he questioned anxiously. But she gave him no answer. She was crying softly, unheeding. It was all over. Oakley was gone, and with him went her only hope of happiness. Yet more keen than her sense of pain and personal loss was her regret that he would never understand that she respected and admired him as she deserved.

"I am sorry, Constance, but I didn't know that you especially wanted to see him," said the doctor awkwardly, but with a dawning comprehension of what it all meant. She made no answer.

"What is it, dear?" he repeated.

"Oh, nothing. I wanted to tell him about something, that is all. It doesn't matter now." She glanced up into his face with a sudden doubt. "You didn't see him; you are quite sure he went away without your seeing him; you are not deceiving me?"

"Why, of course, Constance, but he'll come back."

"No, he won't, papa," shaking her head sadly. "He's gone, and he will never come back. I know him better than you do."

And then she fled promptly upstairs to her own room.

This was the nearest Constance came to betraying her love for Oakley. She was not much given to confidences, and the ideals that had sustained her in her pride now seemed so childish and unworthy that she had no wish to dwell upon them, but whenever Dan's name was mentioned in her presence she looked frightened and guilty and avoided meeting her father's glance.

It seemed, indeed, that Oakley had taken final leave of Antioch. A new manager appeared and took formal charge of the destinies of the road. Under his direction work was resumed in the shops, for the strike had died a natural death. None of the hands was disposed to question the 10 per cent cut, and before the winter was over the scale of wages that had been in force before the strike was inaugurated was voluntarily restored. The town had no criticisms to make of Johnson, the new manager, a quiet, competent official; the most any one said was that he was not Oakley. That was enough. For Dan had come into his own.

Early in October there was a flutter of excitement when Turner Joyce and his wife left for the east to be Oakley's guests. When they returned some weeks later they had a good deal to say about him that Antioch was frankly curious to hear.

He had taken his father to Burton, where his mother was buried. Afterward he had joined General Cornish in New York.

Secretary of State Says He Will Resume Practice of Law at End of Term.

CHANGE IN THE SITUATION

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 5.—In a card issued today, Secretary of State McChesney announces his withdrawal from the race for the Democratic nomination for auditor, and declares that at the termination of his term in office he will resume the practice of law.

The withdrawal of Mr. McChesney from the race for auditor is regarded as one of the most important moves on the checker-board of politics for some time. His retirement gives Judge Hines a great advantage in the race as it makes him the only western Kentucky candidate.

It further indicates an alliance, or, rather, a resumption of the old relations between Governor Beckham, Auditor Hager and Inspector Hines, as McChesney was recognized as the administration candidate for the position, and the fact that he was taken up was what caused Inspector Hines to apparently hold aloof from the governor in the senatorial race.

Now that Mr. McChesney is out of it, Judge Hines will, it is practically certain, be the administration choice and as Judges Hager and Hines have stuck together throughout the campaign, all doubt seems removed as to what the present auditor's position will be.

COMMUNION WINE IN SPOONS.

Iowa Pastor Yields to Agitation Against the Old Custom.

Every communicant of the First Methodist Episcopal church who desires to share in communion services next Sunday is requested by Dr. W. W. Carlton, the pastor, to bring a spoon, says a Mason City (Ia.) telegram. Instead of sipping from the cup and passing it from lip to lip, as heretofore, partakers in the services will dip their spoons into the wine and drink his own portion.

The pastor's innovation is a result of an agitation in Iowa churches against the common use of the communion cup, it being held that the old custom is a means of spreading disease.

Do You Want to Know

What You Swallow?

There is a growing sentiment in this country in favor of MEDICINES OF KNOWN COMPOSITION. It is but natural that one should have some interest in the composition of that which he or she is expected to swallow, whether it be food, drink or medicine.

Recognizing this growing disposition on the part of the public, and satisfied that the fullest publicity can only add to the well-earned reputation of his medicines, Dr. K. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., has "taken time by the forelock," as it were, and is publishing broadcast a list of all the ingredients entering into his leading medicines, the "Golden Medical Discovery," the popular liver invigorator, stomach tonic, blood purifier and heart regulator; also of his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous and invalid women.

This bold and outspoken movement on the part of Dr. Pierce, has, by showing exactly what his well-known medicines are composed of, completely disarmed all harping critics who have heretofore unjustly attacked them. A little pamphlet has been compiled from the standard medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, showing the strongest endorsements by leading medical writers of the several ingredients which enter into Dr. Pierce's medicines. A copy of this little book is mailed free to any one desiring to learn more concerning the valuable, native, medicinal plants which enter into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines. Address Dr. Pierce as above.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are tiny, sugar-coated anti-bilious granules. They regulate and invigorate Stomach, Liver, and bowels. Do not hurt the habit, but cure constipation. One or two pills daily for a laxative and regulator, three or four for an active cathartic. Once taken, they are in favor.

Ohio's big city is crowded with visitors, who swarm the streets and enliven the noisiest Cincinnati is "at home" to her neighbors and the unwritten Buckeye law of lavish hospitality is now strictly enforced. This fifth of Cincinnati's autumn industrial shows is already fixed as the greatest of the latest series—the successors of the famous old Cincinnati Expositions.

The bazaar is crowded with rare exhibits. In the United States Government display is a coining machine from the mint at Philadelphia—a ponderous press weighing over twelve tons. Souvenir coins are "minted while you wait." Uncle Sam's display is a replica of that made at St. Louis, and Lieutenant J. C. Waterman, Fourth Infantry, is in charge.

The shows about "The Circle" in Washington Park are as varied as those which made "The Pike" famous. Cincinnati is enjoying her first view of that wonderful electrical production of "The Johnstown Flood." One of the most thrilling of the festival attractions is the outdoor spectacle, "Fighting the Flames." One whole city block is shown ablaze, with fire engines, manned by real fire-fighters, forcing waters of water upon the towering walls of fire.

"The Blue Moon," put on at Music Hall by the Shubert, has made a tremendous hit. For the first time in theatrical history a London success has been given its first American presentation in the West. New York's sensation eyes are on Cincinnati. James T. Powers, Edward Favor, Charles Bowser, Templer Saxe, Arthur Donaldson, Clara Palmer and Ethel Jackson are in the big cast. "The Blue Moon" is a Burmese idyl, with the book by Harold Frederic, lyrics by Percy Grainger and Paul A. Rubens, music by Howard Talbot and Paul A. Rubens, staged by Frank Smithson. Over one hundred Cincinnati girls are in the ballet. The story follows the fortunes of Chandra-Nil, Burmese for "The Blue Moon," an English girl kidnapped, as a child, by a deserter from the English army in Burmah, who assumes the guise of a native and calls himself Moolraj. When this girl—Chandra-Nil—comes to young womanhood Moolraj makes her a singing girl, and an Indian Prince falls in love with her. Moolraj's influence she promises to wed the Prince, but he is all to the good, and when Moolraj is unmasked resigns his claim to Chandra and restores her to her rightful mother and the Englishman who had gained her love.

The Fall Festival continues until September 23, and excursion routes to Cincinnati by rail and river are resulting in vast crowds.
